

Auto Responder #1:

Subject Line: What is keeping you?

The number of women experiencing infertility will range from 5.4-7.7 million in 2025, with the most likely number to be just under 6.5 million. -- National Survey of Family Growth

You know those walks in the park or restaurants that you have started to avoid because it is too painful to see other people happily sharing family moments with their children? Remember the family parties or reunions with old friends that you skipped to avoid the agonizing questions about “why you two don’t have children yet” followed by that long searing silence afterward? Tired of hoping each trip to the doctor will bring the news you have been waiting on and dealing with the grief every month? Tortured by the heart-break of walking past the Mothers Day cards in the store every year....hoping....wishing ....waiting.....maybe next year.

With the release of the new ebook "The No Nonsense Guide to GETTING PREGNANT," the good news is that not only is there hope.....there is help.

What if the only thing that is keeping you from getting pregnant is changing your lifestyle? You would do it right? What if someone could give you the information you need to apply scientific calculations and planning to your life to help you increase your chances of getting pregnant? You would want to know right? What if there are steps you should take or signs that you are missing that keeps you from getting pregnant? You would be interested right?

Then the question is what is keeping you from acting right now to take your future into your own hands? What is keeping you from building the family you so desperately want? It can't be the simple price of $29.50 because you have already invested more than that in calculators, doctors, and excruciating waiting. It can't be the price of the less than $1 per day that you would waste on another month of waiting without results because you have 30 days to return the ebook "The No Nonsense Guide to GETTING PREGNANT," for a full, money back guarantee if this book does not absolutely help you gain the information and insight you need to become pregnant.

Please.....visit us today to get the help that is waiting for you in "The No Nonsense Guide to GETTING PREGNANT!"